LEGISLATURE IS LARGER'S HOPE; IT MEETS TODAY

Ousted North Dakota Governor Hopes to Get Office Back

BULLETIN
Bismarck, N. D., July 20—(AP)—An unsuccessful effort has been made by associates of William Langer, ousted governor, to effect a truce with Acting Governor Ole H. Olson. It was learned today from fully authoritative sources that Langer leaders in the legislature have offered to drop any plan for impeachment of Olson if he will issue an official call for a special legislative session.

Bismarck, N. D., July 20—(AP)—William Langer, ousted as governor, was still full of fight, looked for a vulnerable spot to strike back at his political enemies. Today, confident the legislature will restore him to power.

His chief opponent, Acting Governor Ole H. Olson held the upper hand, temporarily at least. He occupied the executive offices, with the backing of the state supreme court which ousted Langer after his conviction on a federal charge of misuse of relief funds, and had full control of the North Dakota National Guard.

Threatening Olson's position, however, was the state legislature. The legislature convened under call of Langer Thursday and recessed until this afternoon, and may attempt the impeachment of Olson and supreme court judges if a quorum can be mustered of Langer-controlled members.

In the background Acting Governor Olson has revoked the special session proclamation and posted his order on the doors of the legislative chambers. It was disregarded by 61 out of the 113 members of the House Thursday and by 18 of the 49 senators.

In a step to counteract the implied threat, by Langer, against any senator refusing to heed the special call, Olson last night by proclamation told the refusing members the protection of "all the legal machinery" of North Dakota would be made available to them if they disregarded the call.

Olson was striving to get enough members to disregard the special session call to dispell hopes of Langer for a quorum.

Emerging from his seclusion, Langer last night addressed the Farmers Holiday members at a meeting here, and announced he would go before the legislature, probably tomorrow, to deliver a message.

Alarmed by the crowd of farmers, Langer, Lieut. Gov. Olson had four National Guardsmen posted before his hotel room during the night, while 50 other guardsmen stood on guard at the Capitol. Additional troops were held in readiness for any possible disturbance. The Holiday Association gathering was peaceful, however, and made no demonstration except to cheer Langer.

To Oust Langer's Friends
Olson today moved to oust political associates of Langer from legislative office.

This move presaged a new fight between Olson and Langer forces, which some of the ousted governor's lieutenants to resist ouster.

Tentatively, it was known that Olson planned to depose Stephen Ter Horst, one of the Langer key men, from the office of head of the state regulatory department, and to replace him with Sidney I. Parke, Grand Juror.

E. M. Lee, Fargo, is in line for Chief Varden of the state game and fish department to supplant Fred Arast, while O. Leonard Orvedal, deputy state treasurer, is considered for secretary of the state industrial commission, a position now held by James Milloy.

The important positions of manager of the Bank of North Dakota, held by R. M. Stangler, and manager of the state mill and elevator will remain unchanged for the time being.

There is a strong possibility that Olson will soon move to oust Langer's Peterson, politically active Langerite, from the office of mill manager. There were indications that Stangler, banker of long experience, may be retained by the bank.

Seven DeKalb Youths Arrested for Series of Nearby Robberies
DeKalb, Ill., July 20—(AP)—Police today claimed solution of 42 petty robberies in DeKalb and nine other northern Illinois towns with the arrest of seven youths.

CHIROPRACTORS' SOC. RE-ELECTS OLD OFFICIALS
Chicago Has Edge for Convention in 1935 Is Belief Today

The present officers of the Illinois Chiropractic Society were re-elected by the unanimous vote of the delegates to the state convention here yesterday afternoon. The annual election was scheduled to have been held this afternoon, but at the nominating session yesterday the names of the present officers were the only ones submitted and their election was declared unanimous as follows:

President—Dr. T. J. Boner, Pontiac.
Vice Pres.—Dr. Waldo G. Boehner, Chicago.
Sec.-Treas.—Dr. J. W. Dugger, Springfield.

Chicago appeared to have the edge on other cities competing for the 1935 convention according to many of the delegates today. Peoria was another city asking to entertain the chiropractors and Sterling-Rock Falls had combined in presenting an invitation for the convention to meet in these cities next year.

Trip to State Park
The sessions of the convention were adjourned shortly after noon today and the delegates left the meeting hall to enjoy a motor ride to the Pines and other points of interest in this section of the Rock River valley, a welcome feature of the day, was anticipated to relieve the large number who were suffering from the intense heat.

Last evening practically all of the delegates went to Sterling to witness the selection of the winner of the Perfect Back contest in that city, which was held on the roof garden at the Coliseum. Miss Harriett E. Robinson, 1303 East Third street was the winner and was selected "Miss Sterling" and will compete in the state finals this evening. Miss Julia Klocke was second and Miss Muriel Hannebarger of Prophetstown, third in the contest.

A total of 13 winners of district contests were in Dixon this afternoon.

Your Evening Telegraph

FOX NEWS REEL TO 'SHOOT' BACK CONTEST TONIGHT
Will be High Spot of State Chiropractic Convention Here

Years ago it was said that a man was as old as his blood vessels, but today the adverse opinion is that man is as old as his spine, was the thought expressed by Dr. S. J. Burich, the Lincoln Chiropractic college of Indianapolis, Ind., in his talk to the delegates attending the eighth annual convention of the Illinois Chiropractic Society at the Hotel Dixon this morning.

"Chiropractors believe that disease is the result of depleted nerve energy," Dr. Burich said in his opening. "We believe that every organ of the human body in order to be normal must be supplied with the proper nerve energy. This is more important than the blood supply and incidentally, the blood supply is regulated by the nerves."

"If a nerve is completely severed, that part of energy that it supplies to the body is dead. All parts of the body connect with the brain which is the central generator of energy. The media connecting all parts of the body are the nerves and the majority of these lead through the spinal column at which point, subject to pressure by displacement are found the special segments. The work of the chiropractor is to realign these segments and free the nerves, thus permitting them to do their proper work."

To Film Contest
Dr. Burich has been teaching chiropractic for the past 23 years and is a member of the faculty of the Lincoln college at Indianapolis. The subject of his talk was "Nervous System Specialized."

Dr. Carl Wagner of the Metropolitan college of Chiropractic at Cleveland, Ohio, one of the directors of the national educational and publicity committee, announced a plan for the conducting of a nationwide Perfect Back contest by the chiropractic profession. Dr. Wagner was highly enthusiastic over the result of the Illinois contest in which a great deal of interest has been displayed. He was engaged in making final arrangements for the program this evening at the Brinton Memorial Masonic Temple when "Miss Illinois" will be selected from the vast field of entrants. Representatives of the Fox Film company of Chicago arrived in Dixon this morning and completed their work, whereby they will make motion pictures of the contest this evening starting at 7:30.

FOUR BURNED IN FLAMING PLANE AT SPRINGFIELD

New Ship Caught Fire in Flight: Two May Not Recover

Springfield, Ill., July 20—(AP)—Four persons were burned, two perhaps fatally, when a new plane caught fire as it was landing at the Springfield airport today.

Arthur O. Johnson of New Orleans, proprietor of the Johnson Airways, is not expected to recover. He suffered severe burns on the head and the body above the waist. Also in critical condition was Mrs. Christine Maynard of New Orleans, burned on the arms, legs and face.

The pilot, John E. Maynard, husband of the woman, also received severe burns. He operates an air taxi service at New Orleans.

The fourth occupant, Robert A. Johnstone of Chicago, was released from the hospital after being treated for burns on the left hand and injuries to his left knee.

Purchased Wednesday
The new plane, purchased Wednesday in Detroit, was being flown to New Orleans. Maynard was landing for gas and did not know that the ship was on fire as he taxied into the wind.

Airport attendants had noticed the flames as the ship came in view, however, and rushed to meet it with fire extinguishers. As Maynard turned the plane on the ground, Johnstone first noticed the flames, which had spread from the under carriage to the tail.

It was believed the flames might have been caused by a back-firing motor.

After purchasing the plane at the Stinson factory, the party had visited the World's Fair at Chicago yesterday.

Preliminary investigation indicated that the motor was not seriously damaged.

Observers said that the passengers, unaware of the fire until they had reached the ground, had a narrow escape. The gasoline tank did not explode.

Although not expected to live, Johnson was able to walk from the plane to an ambulance.

'BACK TO WORK' IS BIG NEWS IN EAST BAY CITIES
San Francisco's General Strike Is Ended Officially Today

San Francisco, July 20—(AP)—The danger point of the Pacific coast maritime conflict shifted to Portland, Ore., today as the general strike relaxed its grip on the San Francisco Bay cities.

As the back-work ranks of union labor in the Bay area swelled to nearly their full force of 100,000, reports of a threatening situation came from Portland where the labor "strategy" committee voted to call a general walkout if National Guardsmen, mobilized by orders of the Governor, are moved onto the waterfront.

Gov. Julius L. Meier of Oregon had ordered the mobilization of 1,100 National Guardsmen to "prevent loss of life and bloodshed" when strikers attempt to open the strike-bound port of Portland today.

Declare Strike Ended
The mass back-to-work movement in the San Francisco Bay area was virtually completed last night when the executive committees of the Alameda county Building Trades and Central Labor Councils declared the strike ended.

In San Francisco, the major service still crippled was the Market street railway company system, whose American Federation of Labor union workers were declared still on strike by S. W. Douglas, secretary.

Douglas declared the union men, who made demands for recognition and arbitration of grievances when they left their cars a day before the mass walkout, will refuse to work until "the company" corrects the deplorable conditions under which they work.

Won't Relieve Waterfront
The 1,200 teamsters of the East Bay voted to return to work but to continue refusing to move waterfront freight until the maritime strike is settled. San Francisco's 2,500 teamsters were expected to take similar action at a meeting.

Last night, after sending a message to President Roosevelt predicting a prompt settlement of the entire trouble, General Johnson conferred with Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward McGrady, member of the mediation board. The NRA chief said he plans to go to

Portland and Seattle New Danger Points in Pacific Coast's Labor Troubles

Oregon Guardsmen are Mobilized 10 Miles from Portland

Seattle, July 20—(AP)—Massed police, shooting long range tear gas guns, today drove longshore pickets away from pier 40 and pier 41. Several persons were injured by gas.

Officers, led by Mayor Charles L. Smith, stood on the Garfield street viaduct, over the picket lines, and laid down a barrage of tear and nausea gases.

Both police and strikers were affected, none used masks. Strikers were being resorted to handkerchiefs and sponges tied over their noses.

Was Battle Scene
The popping of tear gas bombs, waving billows of fumes, and figures of men sprawled across the docks where the gas reached them gave the impression of a serious battle, but it was not believed by police that any bullets were fired. Strikers were swept back so quickly that few had opportunity to toss rocks.

At least four policemen were hurt, and scores of strikers were affected by gas. Two ambulances started hauling away the injured shortly after the police attack started.

The piers where the rioting occurred are centers of non-union loading and unloading and were the scene of vicious rioting Wednesday.

Neither police nor strike officials would estimate the number of pickets involved in today's clash, which occurred just seven hours after Mayor Smith had assumed personal charge of the police upon the unexplained resignation of Chief of Police G. F. Howard.

Guardsmen Ready
National Guardsmen camped 10 miles from Portland today, ready to advance on the waterfront with machine guns and light howitzers if maritime pickets interfere with shippers' plans to open the strike-bound port.

Union labor poised over the city its counter weapon, the threat of a general strike if any of the troops set foot on the waterfront.

Eleven hundred Guardsmen mobilized hastily last night on orders of Governor Julius L. Meier, who said citizens of the state, shippers, lumbermen and grain growers urged the action.

The Portland strike strategy committee said the order cancelled its promise that a general strike would be held in abeyance pending further negotiations. That was the understanding with Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, administration emissary assisting in strike negotiations here, they said.

24 Hours Notice
Senator Wagner, who said he regretted Governor Meier felt it was necessary to call on the troops at this time, was assured by the strike committee that 24 hours notice would be given if a general strike call were issued.

The troops were accompanied by a special gas company ready to meet them with tear gas, vomit gas and toxic gas. Automatic rifles were backed by howitzers which shoot one-pound shells.

The Portland strike strategy committee charged the move was inspired by employers "determined to prevent a settlement, fearing that the government board will award to the strikers their just demands."

Governor Meier said the troops would be held in readiness at the "Camp Withycombe" and be called in only if regular police are unable to cope with the situation.

Shippers had advised the governor that police could not supply adequate protection for cargo workers.

The Portland city council declined to appropriate funds for Mayor Joseph Carson to employ more regular police officers.

Limited loading and unloading of general cargo has been carried on the past fortnight at a municipal terminal here, as heavily armed police and special guards held pickets at bay.

DEADLOCK AT KOHLER
Kohler, Wis., July 20—(AP)—A deadlock prevailed at the Kohler Company today as company officials and strikers stood by their principles in the face of persistent negotiations to end the strike called Monday.

Conferences between Walter J. Kohler, president of the plumbing equipment manufacturing company; the Rev. J. W. McGuire, Chicago regional labor board mediator, and representatives of striking members of the American Federation of Labor Union brought no indication that peace was near.

Kohler put new teeth into his declaration that the pickets surrounding his plant were "law violators" by instructing all employees last night not to accept passes to

ARMED OFFICERS MOVING TRUCKS IN MINNEAPOLIS

Strike Leaders Hint at Violence if Action Continues

Minneapolis, July 20—(AP)—Two trucks, conveyed by 40 policemen armed with shotguns and ordered to shoot if necessary, ran a gauntlet of pickets today to deliver grocery supplies to stores in defiance of striking truckmen.

A thinly veiled threat of the movement became general through the reply of strike leaders.

It was the first break through the wall of inactivity enforced upon local commercial shippers by the walkout of union truck drivers whose first strike two months ago precipitated riots in which two were killed.

Chief of Police Michael Johannes reiterated his edict of yesterday that trucks would move. Warnings of more turbulent times if such policies are followed, were sounded at strike headquarters by William Brown and Vincent Dunne, strike leaders.

"The reserves will be called out if Johannes' forces a riot and we can put 5,000 men into the field," said Brown. "The trucks will not move. There may be an occasional truck get through under escort but there will be no general movement of trucks. You can depend on that."

Illinois Will Get $7,246,115 from U. S. for Relief Work

Washington, July 20—(AP)—Aubrey Williams, acting relief administrator, announced today the August relief load for all purposes, would total $116,838,937.

Allotments to midwest states follow:
Illinois $7,246,115; Indiana $2,390,683; Iowa, $1,252,940; Missouri, $3,354,623; Wisconsin, $3,205,645; Wyoming, $310,260; Hawaii, $300,000.

PRINTERS SUE STATE
Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—A writ asking that state officials issue warrants to Schnepf & Barnes, printing firm, in payment for supplying the state with automobile license directories was filed in Circuit Court. Charging the state owes the firm $12,001.37 for eight contracts, the writ names Emil Rank, superintendent of printing; K. L. Ames, director of finance; Edward J. Barrett, state auditor, and John C. Martin, state treasurer.

At Dwight 'Cottage'
Mrs. Sandstrom will serve the sentence in the new Illinois women's reformatory at Dwight, the "cottage prison" which is the pride of the state's penal system.

Now 38 years old, she will be eligible for parole at the end of the first year, since her sentence is an indeterminate one. Practice generally in Illinois, however, is to require prisoners to serve one-third of the maximum sentence; about four and a half years, in her case.

The jury's verdict was returned, sealed at 8 o'clock this morning, and was read in open court when the defendant and her attorney were brought in.

Slaying May 9
Thompson, member of a well-to-do Indianapolis family, was killed in the U. S. Grant hotel at Mattoon, Ill., early on the morning of May 9.

Mrs. Sandstrom, who did not take the stand to testify in her own defense, confessed in a written statement that she shot him, but declared it was an accident.

The two had been carrying on an illicit love affair, she said, for three years, meeting secretly in Illinois and Indiana. Thompson's home was in Indianapolis.

When they met in Mattoon in May, Mrs. Sandstrom said, she had begun to doubt Thompson's love. She had left her husband, she said, but found Thompson unwilling to leave his wife.

About 6:40 o'clock in the morning, Mrs. Sandstrom said, she seized a pistol and tried to commit suicide. She claimed that Thompson grappled with her and was fatally wounded in that struggle.

Members of the jury said Mrs. Sandstrom's defense had won their sympathy.

Civilian Stormed U. S. Army Post to Set Army Prisoner Free
New York, July 20—(AP)—Bouldy cowering several soldiers, an unidentified civilian "stormed" the Governor's Island post of the U. S. Army and executed a daring delivery of an army prisoner today.

The prisoner was Melvin Blanton of Camden, O., an inmate of the disciplinary barracks.

Blanton had twice escaped from Fort Thomas, Ky., and once from Fort Benjamin Harrison in Indiana.

Steam Train Ran 85 Miles in Hour and Seven Minutes

Milwaukee, Wis., July 20—(AP)—A passenger train on the Milwaukee railroad, regularly scheduled between Chicago and Milwaukee, made the 85 mile run between the two cities in 67 minutes and 30 seconds today, the fastest time ever made by train between the two cities. The average speed was 75.5 miles an hour.

Pulling out of the Chicago Union station at 9 o'clock, CST, the train's next stop was in the Milwaukee station at 10:07:30.

For a stretch of 68.9 miles, the train made an average speed of 90 miles an hour.

Officials of the road said the run was made in an attempt to set a new sustained speed record for steam passenger trains over a course of at least 50 miles. The old record of 82 miles was said to have been set by a New York Central train several years ago and equaled by a British train.

The top speed attained on the run was 103 miles an hour and the train slid along for two miles at this speed.

The train, known as No. 29, carried no special equipment for the run, officials asserted.

The railroad company had special guards stationed at grade crossings all the way to prevent accidents. Although the run was not advertised in advance, many people lined the tracks to watch.

The train rounded several one degree curves at 100 miles an hour and pulled around two one-half degree curves at 102 miles.

MURDERESS OF ILLICIT LOVER SENT TO PRISON

One to 14 Years Given Mrs. Anne Sandstrom at Charleston, Ill.

Charleston, Ill., July 20—(AP)—After a jury had convicted her of killing Carl V. Thompson, with whom she had carried on a secret love affair, Mrs. Anne Sandstrom, Indianapolis saleswoman, was sentenced today to serve one to fourteen years in an Illinois penitentiary.

Mrs. Thompson seemed unmoved by the sentence. It ended a trial which opened Monday morning, before Judge Craig Van Meter in the Circuit Court of Cook county.

The jury found Mrs. Sandstrom guilty of manslaughter, having the choice of a verdict of that sort or one of murder. Attorney William H. Remy of Indianapolis, who directed her defense, made no motion for a new trial.

At Dwight 'Cottage'
Mrs. Sandstrom will serve the sentence in the new Illinois women's reformatory at Dwight, the "cottage prison" which is the pride of the state's penal system.

Now 38 years old, she will be eligible for parole at the end of the first year, since her sentence is an indeterminate one. Practice generally in Illinois, however, is to require prisoners to serve one-third of the maximum sentence; about four and a half years, in her case.

MERCURY NEARS CENTURY MARK AROUND DIXON

Many Places Reported Hundred or Higher For Yesterday

BULLETIN
Springfield, Ill., July 20—(AP)—The mercury climbed to its highest point of the summer here at 2 o'clock this afternoon, reaching 105 degrees. The previous high mark this summer was 104.

BULLETIN
St. Louis, July 20—(AP)—A new seasonal heat record was established here this afternoon when the thermometer registered 107.9 degrees, within a tenth of a degree of the all-time July record.

Dixon, along with the rest of the midwest, continued to sizzle in the heat and humidity which yesterday sent the mercury in the government thermometer at the Shuck & Bates store on Lincoln Way up to a maximum of 97. Little comfort was obtained during the night for a minimum of but 71 was recorded, and early this morning the mercury resumed its upward trend, having reached a height of 96 at 12:30 o'clock this noon.

ILLINOIS IN CENTER
Chicago, July 20—(AP)—The heat wave which gripped the country had Illinois nearly in the center of its palm.

The hottest night on record was reported at Quincy, with a temperature of 93 at midnight, and yesterday afternoon the thermometer rose to 110 for a new all-time high.

Fair and continued warm was the forecast for the state today and probably tomorrow.

With unofficial readings of 130 and higher in the sun, relief workers at the Quincy airport were called off the job in the afternoon.

109 at Jacksonville
Jacksonville watched all records for heat topple there when the mercury rose to 109 at 3 o'clock. Great suffering was avoided, however, when the humidity during the evening dropped from 68 to 39.

Chicago shared with downstate in suffering, with an official 96 degree reading, its famed lake rendered ineffectual by a south-west breeze.

DEATH AND DEVASTATION
By The Associated Press
Sizzling conditions heat left death and devastation today from Texas to New York and Georgia to Nebraska.

The death list numbered more than half a hundred. More crops wilted. Some sections had acute water shortages.

Kansas City, where the mercury shot yesterday to 108—the highest ever registered there—reported 11 deaths. Temperatures topped the 100-degree at numerous other spots over the country. Mowata, Okla., was the hottest spot with 115 degrees.

St. Louis reported seven deaths. St. Joseph, Mo., five; Oklahoma City, five; Dallas, four; Jefferson City, Mo., four; Arkansas, three; Chicago, two; Houston, Tex., two; New York, two; Memphis, two and Washington, D. C., Indiana, Fort Worth, Tex., and Atlanta, one each. Nebraska listed ten deaths within the last few days.

Lake Breezes Absent
Chicago baked under a temperature of 96 Lake Michigan breezes being absent.

There was no immediate relief in sight in the weatherman's forecast for the torrid area.

The plains states from the Rockies to the Mississippi were the hardest hit, with temperatures of 110 at Omaha and Keokuk, Iowa—a new high record for Omaha for July and an all time record for the Iowa city. Unofficially, it got as high as 120 in the sun at Quincy, Ill. It was 88 in New York. In Massachusetts forest fires added to the menace of the heat.

Crops Damaged
Farmers in the grain states renewed their cries for rain. The corn crop was badly damaged in many of the northern states. Nebraska was one of the hardest hit. A. E. Anderson, Nebraska agricultural statistician, said one half of Nebraska's corn area would not even produce satisfactory forage.

At Falls City, Neb., the flow of the Nemaha river was reduced to a dribble, and water had to be hauled from a nearby lake to supply restaurants and other public establishments. Well diggers in Iowa were doing a rushing business as residents sought to tap new sources of water supply. Creston, Iowa, continued to receive water from railroad tank cars.

Humorous Aspects
The situation, though extremely serious, was not without its humorous aspects. In Des Moines, Iowa, where the temperature soared to 108, Patrolman Everett Frankford left his car parked on the police station lot with its windows closed. When he re-entered it he found the dial thermometer inside registering 134 degrees. It was so hot, he said, that part of the rubber steering wheel came off in his hands when he touched it.

In Milwaukee, Billy Hotreck, 3, fractured his right leg when he fell on ice chips, left in front of a neighbor's home by the ice man.

NEGLECT OF COMMON CONSTIPATION IS A SERIOUS MATTER

Prevent This Condition with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

The first question your doctor asks is whether you are constipated or not. He knows that this condition may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness. It is often the starting point of serious illness.

You can prevent and relieve common constipation so easily. Just eat a delicious cereal once a day. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that found in leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

Isn't this "cereal way" safer and far more pleasant than taking patent medicines—so often harmful? Two tablespoonsfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in chronic cases. If seriously ill, see your doctor—ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

Seek to Enroll 500,000 Women in Decency Move

Chicago, July 20.—(AP)—Enrollment of 500,000 Catholic women in the Legion of Decency opposing indecent motion pictures was started today.

Some 1,000 Catholic group leaders yesterday assured Bishop Bernard Shiel they would have that number of women in the local league membership.

Mary Pickford, a Chicago visitor, asserted that cleaner motion pictures are "definitely on the way, because the public wants them."

Nine motion pictures were condemned as indecent, immoral and unfit for Catholic patronage today in the Chicago council of the legion. Fourteen others were approved as "clean" and ten were called "spotty."

Those condemned were: "Glamour," "Morals for Women," "Men in White," "Picture Brides," "Riptide," "Registered Nurse," "Up-perworld," "Smarty," and "Of Human Bondage."

Approved were: "Beyond Bengal," "Charlie Chan's Courage," "Doomed to Die," "Ever Since Eve," "Handy Andy," "Jane Eyre," "Lost Jungle," "Mystery Squadron," "Old Fashioned Way," "Through the Century," "Vanishing Shadow," "Wandering Jew," "War's End" and "Whom the Gods Destroy."

To Put in the Summer Picnic Basket

By MARY E. DAGUE (NEA Service Staff Writer)

The family off for the day with a carefully planned menu in a well-packed hamper ceases to mind the August heat.

Planning a picnic menu is as important as planning any other meal. Carelessly and haphazardly done, they contribute to loss in weight and lessen resistance and send children back to school in a poor condition for beginning the year's work.

The simplest picnic lunch is the one composed of sandwiches, fruit and a drink. The sandwiches must satisfy hunger, provide nourishment and at the same time be easy to digest. The fruit and drink do their share toward supplying vitamins and mineral constituents. Milk for the children adds nourishment.

Adding A Salad
The picnic a bit more on the elaborate side adds salad and little cakes or cookies. In this menu the salad may furnish protein or the sandwiches may still be the main source of this food element. If a meat or fish salad is chosen the sandwiches should be made of vegetables. The vegetable salad needs meat, cheese and nut sandwiches to round out the meal. It is a good idea to carry the salad ingredients in separate containers and combine them when ready to serve.

A hot dish is added to the salad and sandwich menu when the picnic takes the place of dinner at home. A one-piece dish which combines vegetables and meat or a macaroni or rice combination dish is an excellent choice. Try, for instance, scalloped potatoes with ham, scalloped tomatoes with bacon, scalloped cauliflower in a cheese sauce, combinations of vegetables with meat cooked en casserole, or stuffed baked vegetables. Carry these in the dish in which they were baked. Several thicknesses of newspaper will keep them hot.

Watermelon for Dessert
Watermelon makes an acceptable dessert and is a thirst quencher, too, or you make have ice cream packed in a vacuum freezer at home or commercially packed in dry ice.

With the many practical and attractive containers on the market as well as all the paper and composition articles which are so clever and inexpensive, it is easy to pack a picnic luncheon or supper most invitingly and at the same time keep all the foods in perfect condition for some time.

Ways to Revive Near Victims Of Drowning

(How to revive victims of water accidents is clearly outlined by Olive Roberts Barton in the accompanying article. It is another in her series on Summer Accidents.)

(By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON)

It is amazing in this day and age how many people are completely helpless in case of water accidents. Most children swim somewhere nowadays. How different from twenty years ago when most youngsters were afraid to wet their toes.

Children learn rules for first aid these days in school and camp, but comparatively few adults are informed of the processes of getting water out of logged lungs, or encouraging respiration after a near-drowning accident. It is time to learn at least the rudiments of the procedure as there is no time to run for a book when such an event occurs.

Artificial Breathing

If a child is fished out of a creek or pool, to all appearance dead, the first thing to take fore granted is that he is no such thing. Shout your lungs out for someone to get the nearest doctor, but act while you call. Pick up the child (if he is small enough to handle this way) by his feet and shake him to let the water run out of his lungs. Then lay him on the ground, on his stomach, with his head turned to one side and his jaws open. Something soft and flat may be put under his head. Better so. Then take his elbow in your two hands and press them against his ribs, then raising his arms above his head. Repeat the movement regularly to stimulate breathing. This artificial breathing must be done evenly, smoothly and not too fast. About twenty times to the minute. Keep it up and do not get discouraged. The best position for the worker is straddling the patient with both knees on the ground, facing the head. Don't let people crowd around who are not needed to help. Tight clothes or bands should be loosened or cut, but do not lose time fumbling, or talking. Everything must count. His life is hanging on what you do.

Reviving Adults

If the child is older and too big to be picked up by his heels, to drain his lungs, use the method practiced on adults. Lay him, stomach down, on the ground, his face sideways, his arms outstretched and fold a coat under his chest and abdomen to allow the water to run out of his mouth. If there is no coat don't wait to send for something. Roll up two or three bathing suits or anything hard to give the needed elevation. Do not look for a barrel. There won't be any. Now straddle him or if easier put one knee between his legs. The knees should be even with his hips or nearly so. Then place the palms of your two hands on the small of his back, fingers on ribs; now swing your body forward and press down. Keep the elbows stiff. As you bear down your shoulders will be above your hands.

Then quickly throw yourself back. Count a second or so and repeat the gesture. About fifteen times to the minute. It must be done rhythmically and regularly without interruption. When you are tired have someone ready on the instant to take your place without least motion. Keep your head. Grimly determine that if you are going to save that life if it takes hours. It may take one, two or three. Even four hours.

Give a Warm Drink

By the time the doctor gets there the child will have had the needed start to recovery. You can leave the rest to the doctor. But in case there is no doctor, give the child a drink of something warm and let him rest a long long time. His whole system has had a severe shock. Don't make him talk.

It pays to practice the motion of pressure. The weight must be on the hands and at the right place. A squeezing but firm and slightly forward pressure that acts as a pump. Be careful, however, that the weight of a heavy adult does not descend too suddenly on a delicate frame. No use curing one thing only to cause another trouble.

THEY HELP THE REDS.

Much alarm has been expressed over the apparently increasing number of persons opposed to military preparedness and service, as evidenced by college polls on military training, by certain church publications and by conversations on the curbstones.

Pacifists may be divided into four classes. Some are yellow. Some are red. Some, realizing that to go to war involves an amount of discomfort, financial sacrifice and even personal peril, are slackers, plainly selfish. Rarest of all are those who are actuated in their pacifism by purely religious scruples.

In regard to the yellow pacifists, we may search history, both modern and ancient, in all its nooks and crannies to find a nation dominated or even imperilled by its cowards. Cowardice is subnormal. It is an oddity. Cowards do not dominate, nor lead.

Communist circles in this country have influenced some Americans to oppose defense preparedness in the hope that when the Russian government undertakes its projected overthrow of our own, we shall be defenseless. Considerable progress has been made in organizing this group. Much progress is being made also in opposing it, so that we have an interesting fight on hands. The principal task is to open the eyes of its dupes.

As to the selfish pacifists, we have had them in every war. They always have remained selfish until it appeared to their advantage to join the parade. France had examples of this sort of pacifism, and when their homes were endangered and their very national existence in peril, these selfish gentry fought with the ferocity of cornered jackals.

We can respect the ideals of those who have conscientious objections to taking life. They get it from the good old family bible, the spirit of which is preponderantly peaceful. That bible is the beacon that flickers faintly in the darkness far, far ahead of marching humanity. It is the torch held by the spirits of brave martyrs. Perhaps, some day, we shall catch up with it. But at present there is no race on earth more unsuited to the peaceful ideals of the bible than the Anglo-Saxon race. We follow it pretty well in morality and honesty, as compared to other races that accept it, but in the matter of fighting, it seems to have little effect upon us. The Anglo-Saxons have made some progress against the habit of deliberately picking fights. But we have not yet accepted in spirit the theory that we ought to take invasion lying down. As an alternative to preparedness, William Jennings Bryan once suggested that we might welcome an invading army and present the leaders bouquets. What we did to the Bryan ideal is a matter of history and it shows there aren't enough honest objectors to swing the vote for dog-catcher on a rainy day.

The fellows we must watch, however, are the reds who make use of the cowards, the selfish slackers and the honest objectors in their attempts to open our gates to communism.

AN OLD PROPHECY.

Nothing is much more interesting than to look back at the prophecies of the past. One of these, just revealed by publication at Moscow of old documents in the czar's foreign office, is especially interesting to Americans.

In 1898, while the Spanish-American War was at its height, the Russian ambassador at Washington wrote a size-up of the situation for his home government. He recognized the fact that a new world power was being born, and he saw also that America was making a complete break with its past; and he said:

"Not so long ago there occurred a complete revolution in the ideas and political principles of this country. Not satisfied with the past, upon which she has built up her wealth, happiness, and prosperity, she strives to discover a future which in all probability will hold innumerable disappointments and serious trouble for her."

Considering the fact that the World War and its accompanying troubles were among the things that we blundered into thereafter, it looks as if this czarist ambassador was a pretty good prophet.

FRYING PAN TO FIRE.

Sources close to the former German kaiser are quoted as predicting that a military dictatorship will presently replace the Hitler regime in Germany, and that the ultimate result might easily be a return of Wilhelm to Berlin.

Hitler's standing in the non-German world can be gauged by the realization that whereas this would have been very exciting and ominous news a few years ago, few people outside of Germany today will get very alarmed about it.

Hitler seems as great a threat to world peace as Wilhelm ever did. No military dictatorship would be apt to rest more heavily on the German people than does the Nazi dictatorship.

If the Germans want to make the change, the rest of the world is not likely to be very disturbed.

If we could get rid of the approximately 100 men responsible for war in this world, the people would enjoy peace.—Henry Ford.

I hesitate to assume the role of economist.—The Prince of Wales.

SCOUTS PLAN TO SPEND 2 WEEKS IN CAMP AUG. 4

Camp Rotary, Rockford, to be Scene of Annual Outing

Members of Dixon and Lee county Boy Scout troops are to be given an opportunity to enjoy a two week outing at Camp Rotary near Rockford from Aug. 4 to 18. Two periods of seven days each are to be conducted at a cost of $5.50 for each Scout. A fee of one dollar must accompany the registration and accommodations are provided for 300 boys. Camp Rotary is located on the Kishwaukee river three miles east of New Milford.

The program provided for the Scouts includes court of honor, mass games, nature lore, campcraft, leathercraft, hikes, stunts, mystery night, camp fires, pioneering, Indian lore, test passing and instruction, star study, circus night and exploration hikes. Parents of boys are welcome at the camp at one time but are urged not to bring candy or cake unless in quantity sufficient for the entire cabin.

The entire executive staff of Black Hawk area council, assisted by four field executives will act as leaders for the boys. Meals will be prepared by dietitians and will include ample quantities of fresh milk, eggs, butter and vegetables. The camp maintains an equipped medical service with a regular physician in charge during the entire period. A health history blank must be filled out by each boy attending the camp.

The swimming periods will be under the direction of a competent staff of American Red Cross life guards. The "buddy system" is used as a safety method of swimming and the hours will be regularly scheduled.

The health and safety committee of Black Hawk area council in co-operation with the camping committee will make periodic surveys and studies of the camp and its program for the purpose of safeguarding the welfare of the campers.

The new concrete swimming pool is now in operation. The new filter and chlorinating equipment keeps the water in a very clean and sanitary condition. Other additional features are the central electric plant, water system, large airy dining halls, ten large permanent sleeping quarters equipped with individual steel cots, shower baths and modern equipment for latrines as well as the new athletic field, recently completed.

Living Our Everyday Lives

ANIMAL FRIENDS

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

A little girl, whose pet dog died, wants to know if she will meet it again. She hardly wants to go to heaven if her dog is not there too. The dog was well along in years, as dogs go, but all the dearer for that, and it made the parting harder. She sends me the following lines, and asks me to find out, if possible, who wrote such wise and tender words:

"God bless all animals; make us to remember them as we ask Thee to remember us. Make us not to forget that they thirst in heat, shiver in cold, suffer weariness and loneliness, long for a caressing hand and a kindly word, just as we do. Let us not forget and heat of the day that an animal's heart can break. God bless all animals and make us as faithful as they."

The lines were written by Dorothy Dickenson, an English poet, and some of us wish they could reach the eyes and hearts of all who own neglected animals—dogs, especially, who howl and whimper through the long, dark winter nights, lonely, famished, shivering in the cold.

Of course, we do not mean to be cruel—Not many of us do, surely—we merely forget, or fall in sensitiveness for lack of imagination to put ourselves in place of our animal friends and feel with them. It is the power of sympathy by which we enter into other lives, even the humblest, that makes us truly human, as well as civilized beings.

Every day the paper tells of some act of heroic sacrifice on the part of a dog, which makes one feel as the little girl feels. Do dogs have souls and will they live again? Only God knows; but men in tribes and whole nations have believed it since they began to think at all.

Anyway, if our dog friends die, we may be sure that their great

Living Our Everyday Lives

ANIMAL FRIENDS

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

A little girl, whose pet dog died, wants to know if she will meet it again. She hardly wants to go to heaven if her dog is not there too. The dog was well along in years, as dogs go, but all the dearer for that, and it made the parting harder. She sends me the following lines, and asks me to find out, if possible, who wrote such wise and tender words:

"God bless all animals; make us to remember them as we ask Thee to remember us. Make us not to forget that they thirst in heat, shiver in cold, suffer weariness and loneliness, long for a caressing hand and a kindly word, just as we do. Let us not forget and heat of the day that an animal's heart can break. God bless all animals

The lines were written by Dorothy Dickenson, an English poet, and some of us wish they could reach the eyes and hearts of all who own neglected animals—dogs, especially, who howl and whimper through the long, dark winter nights, lonely, famished, shivering in the cold.

Of course, we do not mean to be cruel—Not many of us do, surely—we merely forget, or fall in sensitiveness for lack of imagination to put ourselves in place of our animal friends and feel with them. It is the power of sympathy by which we enter into other lives, even the humblest, that makes us truly human, as well as civilized beings.

Every day the paper tells of some act of heroic sacrifice on the part of a dog, which makes one feel as the little girl feels. Do dogs have souls and will they live again? Only God knows; but men in tribes and whole nations have believed it since they began to think at all.

GOOD THOUGHTS

Because certain modern political groups have considered one controlling voice necessary to the right conduct of national affairs, the name "dictator" has of late been much before mankind. . . . Clear thinkers observe and rejoice in every effort to help the world nearer an acceptance of the heritage of freedom and happiness. Many of such thinkers, however, recognize that right authority, whether of the individual, community, or nation, can spring only from roots planted in unquestioning obedience to the one Lawgiver, God.

—The Christian Science Monitor.

We have been assured, sir, in the Sacred Writings, that "except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it." I firmly believe this; and I also believe that without his concurring aid we shall succeed in this political building no better than the builders of Babel.

—Benjamin Franklin.

All persons possessing any portion of power ought to be strongly and awfully impressed with an idea that they act in trust, and that they are to account for their conduct in that trust to the one great Master, Author and founder of society.

—Edmund Burke.

Love, truth, honor, conscience, service, peace, justice, these ideals are divine and without them all political organizations will perish.

—Dr. Robert E. Brown

There is no power but of God; the powers that be are ordained of God.

Antelope is Speedy
The antelope delights in running. Speedier than even the greyhound, it has few enemies to fear on the open range. However, as its safety lies chiefly in its speed rather than its combativeness, the antelope takes flight at the slightest provocation. It takes no chances. It is away at the first threat of danger.

The coyote, in some areas the golden eagle and always in winter the deep snow, are the major enemies of the antelope.

Ohio's Losses in War

From seventeenth place in the population rank of states in 1803, Ohio advanced to thirteenth by 1810, to fifth place in the next ten years, and to third in the succeeding twenty years, which place she lost to Illinois. With only about 43,000 persons at her birth, in less than 60 years the Buckeye state offered 340,000 men in the Civil war, 24,564 of whom died on the battle fields, more than half her population when she was given statehood, and a 10 per cent greater loss than that incurred by the British and American soldiery during the entire Revolutionary war.

Traveling Around America

A TOWN SET IN SILVER

THIS little town of Potosi, nestled 14,000 feet high in a bowl of Bolivia's bronze colored hills, might be said to have been born with a silver spoon in its mouth. It came into being in 1545 shortly after an Indian goat-herdsman uprooted a bush to find the earth beneath sparkling with masses of pure silver. This lucky incident led to the discovery that the highest of the nearby mountains was filled with the precious metal. Soon silver-seekers from far and near began their trek to "Cerro" this "mountain of silver" and Potosi, the little town which sprang up at its feet, grew rapidly from a small settlement to a city of 150,000 inhabitants. It is estimated that 7,000 mines were opened and more than $3,000,000,000 worth of silver removed. And there is still more to come.

In spite of the fact that after the silver fever had subsided, her population was reduced to about 30,000, Potosi is one of the most intriguing towns to be visited by travelers taking the weekly trips down South America's West Coast. The town rambles like a dream. Its delicately tinted houses look for all the world like petals blown down from the hills and scattered aimlessly along the wandering balcony-hung streets.

Down one avenue haughty llamas promenade; along a veritable petticoat lane bundles of gorgeous women's apparel adorn the walls; in the market a 'vets native vendors sell everything from blankets to freshly killed sheep displayed in toto to prevent butchers from substituting less appetizing animals. The Old Mint still graces the Plaza, its underground passages still creeping stealthily to old churches. And in scores of unexpected places flash the lagunas built by the Spaniards to provide water for the mines and the town.

SALES TAX MAY BE EXTENDED TO TAKE IN OTHERS

Illinois Assembly May Levy on Occupations
to Get More Money

Springfield, Ill., July 20—(AP)—State house opinion is that a spreading of the two per cent sales tax, to include a wide range of occupations in addition to retailing, may be the means of raising sufficient funds when the coffers of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission again run dry.

Constitutionality of such a revenue law was indirectly upheld, legal experts believe, by the Illinois supreme court's opinion on the sales tax.

That the state will soon have to find additional funds for relief is granted by all conversant with the problem. The last $30,000,000 appropriated by the legislature is nearing exhaustion; the state is now preparing to sell another $5,000,000 of the notes authorized in its appropriation. When it does there will be but $3,500,000 left in the appropriations.

Two Major Problems
When the assembly meets in special session — which is not expected to take place until after the November election — it is likely to have two subjects for consideration. One will be an extension of the sales tax, which expires July 1, next, and the other will be the problem of finding additional funds for relief.

The two issues may be combined, sales tax advocates claiming its continuance and the enlargement of its scope essential to relief. Technically, the sales tax is an impost on the occupation of engaging in the business of retailing. In two rulings last year, the Supreme Court held that it was legal to single out specific occupations to be taxed for the privilege of doing business in the state.

Would Be Upheld
There are few who question that the court, by following the same line of reasoning, would uphold a spread in the base of the sales tax law.

That would place the tax on additional occupations, to hit all other classes of business and professional men, as well as skilled artisans, who would be required to pay a flat percentage on their gross receipts. In effect, such a law would be an income tax without gradations.

Since occupational or privilege levies come within the restrictions of the Illinois constitution, such a plan is one of the few ways, other than property levies, that can be used to produce the large funds which will be needed for unemployment relief.

FEDERAL AGENT INDICTED FOR WOMAN'S DEATH

St. Louis Grand Jury
Returns Manslaughter
Charge

St. Louis, July 20—(AP)—Lear B. Reed, suspended agent in charge of the department of justice here, was under indictment today on a manslaughter charge resulting from the slaying of Mrs. Dessie Masterson in a raid led by Reed on the Masterson home.

Reed was indicted by a grand jury late yesterday after testimony of Federal and local authorities who participated in the raid and Harry Masterson, husband of the slain woman.

Mrs. Masterson was killed last Friday night when her flat was raided under the misapprehension that it was occupied by a suspect in a recent machine gun murder. She was shot in the head as she lay in bed with one of her four children.

Subsequent investigation disclosed a friend of the suspect had moved from the flat 3 months before the raid, and that the Mastersons had just moved in.

After testimony that Reed fired at least two shots through the door of the home when it was not opened for the raiders, the Federal agent was found "criminally careless" by a coroner's jury.

CASE WORKERS AT FAULT FOR RELIEF DELAYS

Head of Legislative Committee Makes Accusation

Chicago, July 20—(AP)—Case workers today bore the brunt of blame for the faults in relief administration.

This announcement was made late yesterday by Sen. Louis O. Williams, (Dem.) Clinton, chairman of a special committee named to conduct a legislative investigation of unemployment relief.

"The more we hear, the more we are forced to that conclusion," Williams said as the investigation was adjourned for a week, with its members planning to put more questions to Illinois directors about expenses and personnel.

Sen. George Maypole, Chicago Democrat, announced he would propose a canvas of relief needs and troubles, to be made by "the precinct captains of each party. He contended they would judge relief cases with more insight than the present case workers.

Representatives of the Illinois Welfare Organization, headed by Leonard Hilliker, Calumet, Ill., presented a resolution describing case workers as "a bunch of educated liars."

LUPE AND JOHN HAVE "MADE UP"; EVERYONE HAPPY

Divorce Action Started by Actress Has Been Dropped

Hollywood, July 20—(AP)—According to the plea of Johnny Weissmuller, swimmer-actor, Lupe Velez has decided to drop the divorce complaint she filed last week, marking another of the numerous reconciliations which have followed their frequent separations since their marriage 10 months ago.

Neil S. McCarthy, a lawyer, said he would appear in Superior Court today and ask that the complaint of the Mexican actress be stricken from the calendar. The vicious actress was scheduled to appear in court yesterday to press the action but when it was called she did not appear and explained she was busy making a picture. Later the reason for her failure to come to court was disclosed in the form of a reconciliation.

"They apparently are very much in love with each other," said McCarthy. "Mr. Weissmuller pleaded with her not to go through with her divorce. She acquiesced."

Neither could be reached for a statement, associates saying the couple was out celebrating the reunion.

EVEREST CLAIMS LIFE OF ANOTHER WHO SOUGHT TOP

Former British Army
Captain Lost His Life on Mount

Calcutta, India, July 20—(AP)—Everest, cold and imperious monarch of mountains, has repulsed with death man's latest attempt to conquer her.

Native porters stumbled into Darjeeling yesterday with a familiar story—another explorer dead on the icy wind-swept fastnesses in trying to reach the summit where man has never trod.

Maurice Wilson, 38-year-old former British army captain, for years nursed an ambition to place the Union Jack on Everest's 29,141 foot crown. He set out alone to do it.

For months Wilson underwent rigorous training for the exhausting effort. Denied permission of Indian authorities to attempt the climb, he disguised himself as a Tibetan and left Darjeeling March 25 with three porters.

Camp at 21,000 Feet
Overcoming numerous hardships, the little party reached the 21,000 foot level late in May, where there is a camp established by the Rutledge expedition.

Wilson started on alone May 31, heedless of the pleadings and warnings of the porters. He told them to wait two weeks for him—then to turn back if he hadn't returned.

The men waited a month. Their food ran low, so they began the long descent. They believed Wilson died on a particularly dangerous part of the mountain at the 23,000-foot level, where avalanches are frequent.

At least nine men have died in the attempt to conquer Everest, the world's highest mountain, some with the goal almost reached.

To airplane only has Everest surrendered. The mountain was crossed by plane for the first time in April, 1933, by the Marquis of Clydesdale, Colonel L. V. Stewart Blacker and Flight Lieutenant D. F. McIntyre, all Englishmen.

Bronze Age Relics

That the urn and human bones found near Jedburgh, Scotland, belong to the late Bronze age, or about 1000 B. C., is the opinion of officials of the Scottish National Museum of Antiquities. The blackened condition of the bones indicates that the body had been cremated, cremation or incineration being common at that time.

Agent Rebuked In Shooting

Lear B. Reed, above, federal department of justice agent, was criminally careless in the shooting to death of Mrs. Dessie Masterson of St. Louis, a coroner's jury decided in holding Reed for the grand jury. Mrs. Reed, mother of four children, was struck by a bullet when federal agents raided her home on a tip that gangsters were hiding there.

WORLD POWERS IN RACE; WILL BUILD PLANES

Aerial Supremacy Is Aim of Each of Greater
Nations Now

BY LLOYD A. LEHRBAS
Copyright, 1934

By The Associated Press
Washington, July 20.—(AP)—The rear of new fleets of war planes rising through tomorrow's skies schooled in the minds of experts today as world powers threatened a race for aerial supremacy.

Despairing of achieving disarmament on land or sea, the powers are hastening to prepare for any war-in-the-sky.

Great Britain, which has lagged somewhat behind, has just made clear it believes the time has come for the Royal Air Force to soar with the highest. It plans 40 new squadrons, estimated at 500 planes.

U. S. Reported Weak
The United States, which has already started a three-year program for 1,000 new planes, received a warning. The Newton D.
Baker aviation committee's report will say, it was learned authoritatively today, that the United States is comparatively weak in fighting planes. The committee report, to be made public Monday, recommends more combat and attack aircraft to bring the Army Air Corps to highest war time efficiency.

France, Russia, and Japan, experts said, are building modern, speedy fighting and bombing planes rapidly.

No Limiting Treaties
There are no international agreements limiting air forces. Proposals have been made at Geneva to limit European air power, to restrict the conversion of commercial planes into military ones and to outlaw bombing from the air.
None has succeeded. The sky remains the limit.

American military authorities estimate that Russia and France have 3,000 planes; the United States 2,800; Japan, 2,500; and Great Britain 1,400. The Baker committee survey is said authoritatively to have found that the United States, in actual fighting efficiency, ranks below Japan and on a par with Great Britain.

The Baker report also opposes a united air force on the ground it would weaken the nation's power.
It favors the present system of separate army and navy air corps.
The question of a unified force has been debated bitterly in army, navy and congressional circles
since the world war.

Bobolinks Have Route
Bobolinks or "rice birds" are entirely peculiar to the New world.
They breed in many sections of the country, but spend the winter in Argentina and Paraguay. Their migration is along a definite path, known as the "bobolink route,"
which passes from Florida to Cuba, to Jamaica and then across the Caribbean sea.

BLUE EAGLE HAS RETURNED TO ITS ROOST IN MILLS

Workers of Harriman, Tenn. to Return to Jobs on Monday

Harriman, Tenn., July 20.—(AP)—
The blue eagle spreads its wings over Harriman today after an absence of three months, and hundreds of idle workers looked forward jubilantly to returning to their jobs.

From Washington it was learned authoritatively that the long dis-

GUARD YOUR HEALTH KILL FLIES & MOSQUITOES

pute between the NRA and the Harriman Hosiery Mills, growing out of a strike of employees last October, has been settled with an agreement that gives the blue eagle back to the mills, the town's principal industry.

T. Asbury Wright, attorney for the company, said the mills will be re-opened Monday. The plant has been idle since June 25 when it was closed, officials said, because of the cancellation of a large order, lost after the blue eagle was withdrawn.

The shutdown threw 633 workers out of jobs with 300 striking employees already on the streets.
Federal relief agencies stepped in to feed families made suddenly destitute.

Hearing last night that the blue eagle would be returned and the mills reopened, the people flocked down town to celebrate in a carnival spirit the prospect of returning employment.

While formal announcement of the agreement had not been made it was momentarily expected.

SCHUMACHER AND DEAN WON NINE STRAIGHT GAMES

Lively Ball Fails to Worry Giant and Cardinal Stars

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer)
 At least two pitchers in the National League, Jerome (Dizzy) Dean of the Cardinals and Harold (Hal) Schumacher of the Giants, have earned the privilege of wearing slightly superior looks when any mention is made of the livelier ball used in the senior circuit this year.

Each of them could boast today of nine straight victories, the best winning streak of the season. Dean was the leading finger with 17 victories against three defeats and Schumacher was tied with Fred Frankhouse of Boston for second place with 14 games won and four lost.

The eccentric Dean chalked up his ninth consecutive triumph yesterday when he stopped the Braves with seven hits to gain a 4 to 2 decision over Bob Smith. And he broke one of his few "sixes" in doing it, for it was his first triumph in Boston in more than two seasons. He also batted in the winning run with a long fly in the sixth after Spud Davis, Ernie Ottavelli and Leo Durocher had connected for singles.

Schumacher continued to show the "Indian sign" over the Reds as he gave them 12 hits and shut them out 4 to 0. In his three-year major league career he hasn't lost a game to Cincinnati, winning eleven, but it took some fancy fielding on the part of his teammates to enable him to apply the whitewash yesterday.

These two victories failed to alter the upper part of the league standing as the second-place Cubs also came through with a victory, beating the Phillies 2 to 1 when Pat Malone and Lonnie Warneke came together to hurl a four-hit game.

The other first division team, Pittsburgh, ran into trouble when Linus (Junior) Frey of Brooklyn broke up an elbowing argument between Bill Swift and relief-thrower Emil Leonard by seeking a home run with one aboard after two were out in the ninth to give the Dodgers a 4 to 2 decision over the Braves.

Yanks Beat White Sox
 The Ruth-less Yankees recovered some of their recently lost ground in the American League race when they edged out Chicago 4 to 3 while rain kept Detroit and Athletics idle. Ben Chapman provided the difference between victory and defeat by driving in three runs and scoring another as he hit a single, double and triple. The triumph left the Yanks two games behind the Tigers.

Cleveland's Indians drew closer to the third-place Red Sox by smashing over five runs in the ninth and defeating the hose 6 to 5. The Browns opened an assault on Washington and fifth place by snatching the Senators five runs in the first then coming from behind to win 8 to 7 with the aid of two homers by Harland Cliff.

GOLF

By Art Krenz

Improper pivoting has caused more trouble in golf than anything else. Failure to pivot correctly and to get the weight over to the right leg in the backswing leaves too much weight on the left leg. In the downswing, the player then pulls back to the right leg, which results in cutting across the ball. By shifting the weight properly, that is to the left leg in the backswing and the right leg in the downswing, the right side, which otherwise would be blocked by faulty pivoting, will follow easily around with the swing.

AMERICAN CUP TENNIS STARS VS. AUSTRALIA

U. S. Players Expected to Trim Anzacs in Wimbledon Play

Wimbledon, Eng., July 20.—(AP)—Tennis stalwarts of the United States found themselves two jumps from the Davis Cup today—both of them—ag ones.

Easy victories in the American zone of cup competition, Frank Shields, Sidney Wood, George Lott and Lester Stowfen, will stack up against real opposition when they take Wimbledon's famous center court against Australia in the interzone finals starting tomorrow.

Shields will meet Jack Crawford and Wood will face Vivian McGrath in the opening singles matches. After a one-day lull over Sunday, Lott and Stowfen will team against Crawford and Ardian A. Quist in doubles on Monday. The final two singles matches Tuesday will send Wood against Crawford and Shields against McGrath.

Without minimizing the Anzacs' strength, most tennis experts felt the United States should be rated a well-defined favorite to eliminate Australia and thus gain the right to face Great Britain in the challenge round next week. Not all did all four Americans make a fine showing in the All-England championships but the Australians, especially Crawford, appeared far below form in their narrow 3-2 triumph over Czechoslovakia in the Europe zone finals. Crawford, however, has looked impressive in practice here and Shields, Wood & Company will need to be at their best.

The departure of Wilmer Allison for home makes it virtually certain America, assuming a victory over Australia, will use the same lineup against England in the challenge round. Allison quit the team in a huff while he was not named for the interzone finals.

"BIG TRAIN" IS GIVEN CONTRACT FOR '35 SEASON

That's Answer of Cleveland Ball Club to Criticism

Cleveland, July 20.—(AP)—Walter Johnson, manager of the Cleveland Indians, has a vote of confidence and a contract for the 1935 season today to assist and support him in the American League campaign.

The contract is the answer of Cleveland baseball club directors to the chorus of boos and criticism which assailed Johnson after the Indians dropped a game to the New York Yankees Monday. A number of baseball writers said Johnson, one of the greatest pitchers in the game, didn't know how to handle the Cleveland pitching staff.

Johnson began to pilot the Indians in June, 1933, after a similar uprising had ousted Manager Roger Peckinpaugh. His present contract expires at the end of the 1934 season.

"Big Train" Silent
 The "Big Train" has escaped any serious criticism of his managerial strategy until Monday when New York won in the ninth inning on one hit and six bases on balls. Baseball writers said Johnson should have sent in one of his best pitchers to hold the lead in that last inning.

Johnson has remained silent throughout the storm, making no announcements, no apologies. In announcing the new contract for 1935, President Alva Bradley of the ball club said that club officials felt the criticism of Johnson had been unfair.

"We think Walter has done especially well on the present home stay in spite of possible mistakes," Bradley said. "We all make mistakes, you know, and I don't think Johnson has made any more than the rest of us."

The Indians haven't lost a game since Monday.

SOPHIE KERR'S SUPERB LOVE STORY "STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

By Sophie Kerr

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JANE TERRY comes to New York determined to show her home town, Marburg, and especially AMY JACKSON that she can make a success of her life. Amy had been her best friend until HOWARD JACKSON broke the engagement Jane had forced upon him and married Amy.

In New York Jane obtains a position in a real estate office and soon is making a large income. She has an affair with ROGER THORPE, married, but lives of his. When he offers to bear the expense of their child she contemptuously dismisses him. Amy takes the baby named NANCY, promising never to reveal its parentage. She can never quite still the fear that Jane will some day try to take the child.

Amy enters the World War and Howard decides to enter in the aviation corps. Amy heartily sticks over this impending separation, is obliged to play hostess to a commencement dinner party at which Jane is a guest.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVI

"BUT you'll play for us, just a little," said Mr. Barney generally. "I know we're due at the meeting, but we can't go without hearing you."

"But I wonder—" began Amy. She did not want to play. She was afraid of the emotion of music tonight.

"Oh please, Amy," said Edgar and Alice seconded him with "I almost never get a chance to hear you."

"I don't either," said Miss Rosa. "Come along, child. You don't have to be coaxed."

Jane did not want to hear any music. It would simply keep Amy in the limelight still longer, but she must appear generous and amiable before Howard. "Of course Amy must play for us," she said, and made room on the sofa for Howard to sit beside her and listen. Howard was not looking at her and Prentice took the place. Howard moved over beyond the piano so that he could see Amy's face and be away from everyone else.

She did not ask them what they wanted to hear, but began involuntarily the Franck Prelude with its questionings of man's destiny, its search for the sustenance of faith and hope, then on into the Chorale where these questionings are answered with noble wisdom, immortal grace, and harmony is wrought between human insignificance and human aspiration.

The music reached them all, even Jane, but Jane the least. Jane tried to find it show-off and solemn. Yet it impressed her and made her sit at ease, and though she rose immediately to go when the music ceased—no more Amy for me tonight, she thought—she was subdued. She couldn't flash about and be smiling and provocative while majesty still echoed through the room. She was glad to get away. And when Prentice, who insisted on taking her and Miss Rosa home before he went on to the trustees' meeting, began to ask for her address in the city—"I work in Chicago, but I take time out to play in New York, ha ha!"—she told him coolly that her office was in the telephone book and made a mental note to warn Mrs. Andrews that she was out if he called up.

"It was the most agreeable evening I've spent for a long time," said Miss Rosa when Mr. Prentice had left. "But what on earth made me as a professor's wife in Marburg? That would be funnier than Amy's wedding dress! I'm grateful to Amy for sparing me that. I really am."

"You don't sound grateful. You sound," Miss Rosa continued shrewdly, "as if you had tried to hurt Amy in some way and it hadn't come off. There's nobody we dislike so much as people we'd like to hurt and can't, or people we have hurt without any reason. It's because it proves they are bigger than we are."

"Oh, dear Aunt Rosa, please don't moralize. It doesn't suit you," Jane yawned. "I might as well go to bed. I believe I'll go back to New York tomorrow. I don't like to be away long. Everything's so unsettled with this stupid war. I wish to heaven I knew how long it's going to last, and what effect it'll have on real estate."

JANE had not intended actually to lie to her aunt when she said that Amy was going on to a Commencement party. She had thought it quite possible true. It was true in so much that Amy was supposed to appear at Professor Lowe's and help her mother through an evening with a group of visiting trustees' wives, whose husbands were attending the same meeting to which Barney and Prentice had to go. Howard was needed at Professor Ellert's and he and Barney had left together. Edgar Moreland and Alice lingered.

"Call up your mother and say you can't get rid of us," said Edgar. "She's capable of coping with millions of trustee ladies, be they ever so strange. I don't want to go. Neither does Alice. We want to sit around and have some light-minded talk and have you play us some low-brow stuff, don't we Alice?"

"Yes, and I want some more cake!" said Alice. "It was grand, that cake. I only had half a slice."

"Alice, if you get fat I won't love you," warned Edgar.

"Maybe I'd rather eat my cake and lose you."

"You won't lose him," said Amy. "Edgar's an old stickler. I'll see if the kitchen help left any cake, and I'll get some ginger ale and we'll all sit out in the garden and have all the light-minded talk there is. I'd love it."

"No more music!"

"I don't feel up to it after that Franck. I'll play hours for you some other time."

Alice put a slender arm around Amy. "I know. It would be a crime to listen to trash after that. The garden was sweet and dark and cool. 'It was a lovely party,' said Alice, arranging her ruffles. 'And wasn't Janie a show!' said Edgar. 'I wouldn't have missed seeing her in all her plumage for a farm. Was she giving the villagers a treat? She looked very stunning. I must say, but she's the same old Janie—I wouldn't trust her around the corner.'"

"Don't pay any attention to him, Alice," said Amy. "He's always had a down on Jane. She spoke half-absently, she was wondering when Howard would come home. (Copyright, 1934, by Sophie Kerr) (To Be Continued.)"

MISS ROSA might be losing her grip, and she might be anxious to retain Jane's amity but this was a bit too much. "Oh, be specific," she said. "Where are we so far behind the times? I'm sure we're all organizing for war work, and there are lots of automobiles around. Too many, I think. And we've got all the conveniences and a good many of the discomforts a bigger place would have. Of course, our factories aren't worth mentioning, but that's no deprivation when you look at Hopsenville. Socially people aren't exactly raw. I'd say."

"But they are. Look at that dinner tonight! One maid to serve eight people, making everything terribly slow! And those flowers in the center of the table, and the hostess in a strange old dress that belonged to a museum—"

"Jane," said Miss Rosa slowly, "I thought you were all over your grudge against Amy for marrying Howard. But it sounds as if you still held it."

"Now that's silly. Can you imagine me as a professor's wife in Mar-

GUNMAN TAKES SWEET TIME IN KILLING RIVAL

Michael Quinlan, Chicago Gangster, is Killed in Cafe

Chicago, July 20.—(AP)—A gangster, Jimmy Cagney, was shot by Michael "Bugs" Quinlan, public enemy, racketeer and gambling resort operator, and police today were trying to learn why.

Quinlan was slain last night when a leisurely gunman fired a bullet into his back as he sat in a Cottage Grove Avenue cafe with Thomas McLaughlin, confederate in the beer business before repeal. No attempt was made to molest McLaughlin.

Quinlan, 35, was at one time an ally of the powerful Salus-McFarlane combination, which the police said ruthlessly exterminated all competitors for the south side beer business before repeal.

For "Double Crosser"
 The slayer, young and well dressed, walked up to Quinlan's table, leaned in front of McLaughlin and as employees and guests looked on, horrified barked—"This is for a double crosser"—and fired once.

Police today said the slaying might have dated back to a feud of pre-repeal days, but they also investigated Quinlan's connection with two south side gambling houses.

Quinlan was reputedly able with both fists and pistols. He was acquitted, after numerous continuances, last December of charges of manslaughter, growing out of the killing of an elderly man with his automobile.

HEAD OF CHICAGO COLLEGE OF CHIROPRACTIC SPEAKER

Dr. W. C. Schulze Principal Speaker at Last Evening Session

Dr. W. C. Schulze, president of the National College of Chiropractic, Chicago, speaking before the delegates to the annual convention of the Illinois Chiropractic Society here last evening, said among other things:

Every person who has ever been in an accident, be it ever so slight, should seek an examination at the hands of a good doctor of Chiropractic, in order to have his or her line-shaft checked up for torsions, stresses, strains, and subluxations, which often leave in their wake physical difficulties of far-reaching importance.

Automobile accidents take more lives than diphtheria. The scourge of old, such as cholera, the pest typhoid, yellow fever—all dirt diseases—have passed from the civilized parts of the earth. Why? Have drugs driven them away? No!

The world is getting cleaner and better adjusted to its environment. But while we are making great advances in general and surgical cleanliness, we have fallen prey to the machine age and all the structural stresses resulting therefrom.

Spine Indicative
Nothing is so indicative of vitality and usefulness as a pliable spine, and nothing shows disease and age more quickly than a rigid bent back. Dr. Schulze stated that women get old, not so much in the face as in the back.

The erstwhile theatrical producer and the glorifier of the American girl, Flo Ziegfeld, then whom there was no better judge of true beauty, told Dr. Schulze that he thoroughly endorsed the effort of chiropractors in teaching the world the importance of a better spinal set-up, and that he made every girl candidate for stage honors walk across the floor for him with his eye thoroughly fixed upon the pliability of her line-shaft, the spine. Beauty is impossible without it, said the speaker, all the creams and beauty treatments a woman can take mean nothing after her back is rigid and her spine "moves in one piece."

The modern drugless physician goes over a patient from head to foot, including in his analysis of each case the latest laboratory methods. But besides this, he makes a thorough analysis of the spinal set-up. He is taught that structural adjustment means true balance of the spinal column which is the great nerve channel. Co-ordinated diagnostic and therapeutic methods in the natural healing arts are conquering, through modern structural adjustment, many diseases once considered incurable.

Quoted From Book
The speaker quoted from his own book on the "Diseases of Women" as follows: "Another sure sign of pelvic disease is diminished mobility of the back, a setting or rigidity of the small of the back referred to technically as the drosio lumbar region. In fact, this constitutes one of the surest signs of pelvic invalidism. All any doctor has to do is to instruct a patient with female disease to make a few bending exercises and he will immediately notice the lack of flexibility which is an indication that there is a set condition of the vertebral column."

The speaker stated that the mechanistic, manipulative idea—the going by hand—is in harmony with general progress and in its broad aspects constitutes the very gospel of good health. The broad general principles of adjustment, skeletal as well as environmental, constitutes the most forward going contribution to the art of healing in this present day.

We all know that health does not come in bottles nor from the outside in.

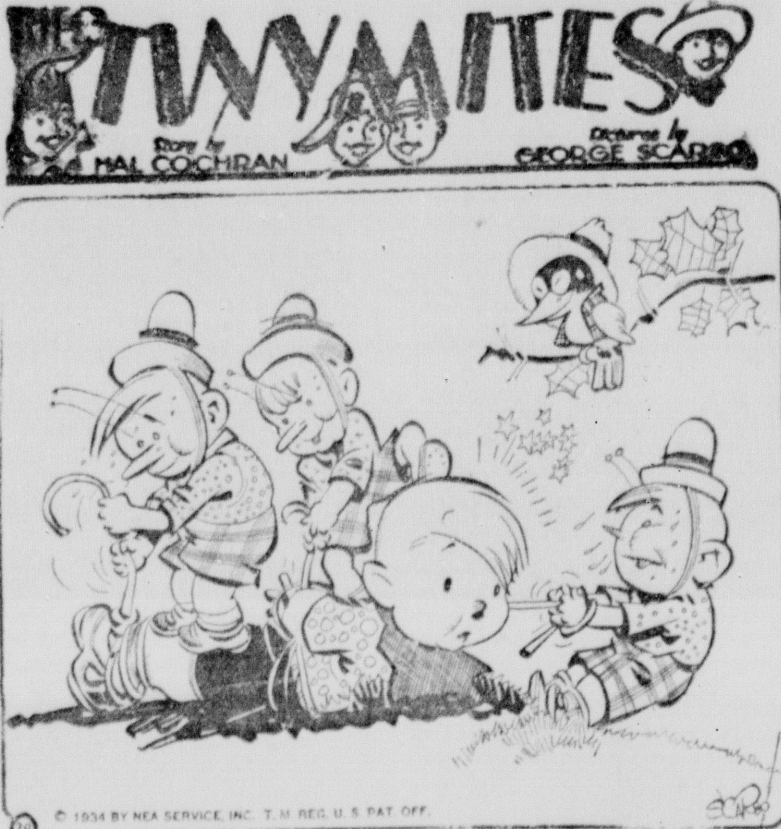

In its fight against disease science has developed natural methods such as the scientific use of water or hydro-therapy, the harnessing of modified electric currents; the use of diathermy, in which we are able to compel the warming electrons to concentrate at any given point in the body; we must make captive the magic ultra-violet rays of the sun and bring the healing processes to the human body as is done with a quartz lamp; we conjure out of glowing metal the valuable infra-red ray and apply its healing powers to human ills—all this is indeed a great triumph for natural methods of healing in its war against disease and premature death.

This is the age of the mechanistic principle in the healing arts. Combined with physio-therapy it is making steady progress against useless and often poisonous drugs and useless surgery.

Dr. Schulze asked his hearers to read an article in the April Ladies Home Journal entitled "Young Doctor Heat" calling attention to the blessing of natural means in the healing of human illness.

A Robot

Any mechanical device which does the work of a human being may be styled a robot; although it is more often applied to automations or mechanical men, says Pathfinder Magazine. This word came into use after the publication in the United States in 1923 of a play entitled "Rossum's Universal Robots." The characters of this play were mechanical men and women. It is pronounced, according to most dictionaries, as "ro-buht"—accent on the first syllable and first o long although the New York Theater guild, which produced the play, pronounced it as "rob-ut" with first o short and accent also on the first syllable.

Brave Scouty thought to himself, "I am thrilled over acting as a spy. I only hope that I can safely reach the distant camp. Then I'll spy on the Meanies Men, and crawl back to my camp again. I wonder why each Meanie is a tricky little scamp."

"Course, all this time, he crawled along, real pleased that nothing had gone wrong. The ground, however, was real hard, and crawling was no fun.

Once in a while he'd stop to rest and rub his knees 'cause he was dressed in short pants and his knees were bare. Sore spots were on each one.

Back in the camp he'd left behind wee Doty worried, and she whined, "I wonder if friend Scouty is all right away out there."

"He surely is a real brave lad, and gee, but I'll be mighty glad when he returns. I'll bet the story he'll tell will be rare."

"Aw, don't you worry 'bout that lad," said Doty. "We all know he's had a lot of real adventures."

conviction, unshakable in many an individual, that if he permits himself to be anesthetized, he will never wake up again.

Those who have heard others describe their sensations on "going under" or who in time past have themselves undergone an operation, find the memory of the mask, the feeling of suffocation, and helplessness when the thing is on the face, the smell and the taste of ether, the nausea that follows upon awakening, a rather unpleasant association.

Modern methods of anesthesia have already gone a long way toward eliminating these various sources of unhappiness which the patient fears. Thus, there are many narcotic drugs available now which, when given to the patient some time before the operation, produce in him an insensibility which spares him the need of knowing anything at all about how he was rendered unconscious for the operation.

Furthermore, the methods of anesthesia and the varieties of drugs available have been multiplied immensely since the days of ether and chloroform. The use of local anesthesia, spinal anesthesia, and gas and oxygen combinations, has widely enlarged the means at the command of the surgeon for overcoming pain.

There is little warrant, therefore for the horror and terror one often meets with in otherwise sensible

ANESTHETICS

Most people do not like surgery. One reason is that the idea of a cutting operation does not appeal to them. Unfortunately, this fear is so strong that many a person who needs to, puts off being operated upon until circumstances force the issue. Many a surgical case that does not turn out as it ought to can be blamed on the patient's delay, rather than on faulty surgical technique.

Another reason for the average person's dislike of surgery is the anesthesia. There is a widespread
